The Volunteer Competency Model provides an overview of the competencies and skills required for successful volunteer participation. Having volunteers with the right behaviors and skills is critical to the Society’s continued success and will help ensure a positive volunteer experience.

A competency is a set of measurable behaviors that result in distinguished performance. Competence comes from one’s experience, attitude, knowledge, and beliefs. The competencies below are grouped into four domains, with a summary definition provided for each domain.

As a volunteer progresses through the HRS Volunteer Tracks (Contributor, Leadership, Presidential), new competencies and skills evolve. Definitions of all competencies and skills, and the tracks in which there are both introduced, are provided.

3. I accept the Bylaws and operating principles stated in the Governance Handbook and understand that I am morally responsible for the health and well-being of the organization.

4. I will actively engage in fund raising for the Society. These activities may include participating in individual solicitations, undertaking special events, writing mail appeals, and the like. I am making a good faith agreement to do my best and to raise as much money as possible, within the guidelines of the Board-approved development plan.

5. I will make a financial donation. I may give this as a one-time donation each year, or I may pledge to give a certain amount several times during the year.

6. I will actively promote the Society and encourage and support its staff.

7. I will attend board meetings, be available for phone consultation, and serve on at least one Board or operating committee. If I am not able to meet my obligations as a trustee, I will offer my resignation.

8. In signing this document, I understand that no quotas are being set, that no rigid standards of measurement and achievement are being formed.
